

Karen McClendon

Karen serves at the Vice President of Human Resources, Consumer Sales. She leads national HR initiatives and serve as a liaison to key stakeholders from across the country while supporting the XCS team's journey toward building a world class sales organization.

Karen McClendon previously served as Vice President of Human Resources for Comcast's Freedom Region, which employs approximately 5,500 individuals and serves more than two million customers in Greater Philadelphia, New Jersey and northern Delaware.

Karen brings a wealth of knowledge and experience, having served as Vice President of Human Resources with other prestigious employers, including Comcast's Western New England Region, Comcast's previous Cellular Communications Division, the Sesame Workshop, and Zone Telecom. She also held senior human resources leadership positions with Aramark Corporation and Exelon Corporation.

Karen earned her MBA from Temple University, her Bachelor's degree in Business Administration from Old Dominion University, and recently graduated from the Betsy Magness Leadership Institute. She recently joined the board of ACHIEVEability, a non-profit whose mission is to break down the generational cycle of poverty for low income, single-parent and homeless families by emphasizing education and accountability. She is also a member of the boards of New Visions Homeless Shelter and the South Jersey Chamber of Commerce. Karen is married with two sons.